Seven Persons Were Killed

And a Number More Injured in the Direful Calamity.—A Tower Operator Supposed to Have Fallen Asleep and Caused the Accident.

Special by Associated Press.

Philadelphia, May 12.—Seven persons were killed in a disastrous freight train wreck early today in the tunnel under 28th street in this city. Fire followed the wreck and while extinguishing it, more than a dozen firemen were injured or over come by smoke. Traffic was completely at a standstill. The wreckage is still a mass of flames.

Frank Lantel, the tower operator in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, stationed at the entrance of the tunnel, it is claimed slept at his post and caused the wreck, causing the death of engineer George Loeb and fireman Geo. Hinchman and five tramps who were stealing a ride. The fast New York bound express freight train, 38 cars, reached the tunnel on time and stopped that some of the cars could

He was arrested and refused bail.

Exhaustive tests of the new liquid have been made, and it is said to be highly successful.

British Column Nearing the Besieged Garrison—War News.

London, May 12.—A British column, 8,000 strong, has arrived at Vryburg, 100 miles from Mafeking. It reached there Thursday; and although harassed by the Boers, is pushing swiftly forward. Fifty miles south of Vryburg, at Taungs, is General Hunter's main body, moving slowly and contending with considerable forces. The pick of his mounted men are the 3,000 who are going without wheeled transport and at a rate that may possibly bring relief to Mafeking on Monday or Tuesday next.

Lord Roberts continues his march toward Kroonstad, 20 miles distant, and by this time he must know whether the Boers intend to fight there. Mr. Churchill says there were only 2,600 Boers who opposed the British at Zand river. Another estimate is that 6,000 Boers, with six guns, made a rear guard action, while many other thousands, with convoys, retired without firing a shot.

President Sterk and a council of the leaders of several thousand Free Stateans in the Ladybrand and Ficksburg district determined to submit to the men the question of continuing the war or not at a great open air meeting. The fighting men decided to fight on. Sterk, who appears to be in active command, began to advance toward the British and came into contact, on Thursday, with Campbell's brigade and Brabant's horse 20 miles northeast of Thaba N'Chu. A smart engagement ensued with no positive success on either side, except that the Boer advance was stopped.

According to a Pretoria telegram General Butler is moving from Elandsburg in the direction of Helsgaard and the British vanguard engaged a Boer patrol of Italians on Thursday. Twelve Italians are reported as routing 50 British. The dispatch also says that British reconnoitering parties have invaded the Transvaal near Fourteen streams and that the scouts on both sides meet frequently with varying results.

A telegram from Pretoria, dated Tuesday, says: "The British, in their passage along the border toward Mafeking were engaged by Commandant Bissell, near the Taungs, with great success. Hundreds of British troopers met a watery grave while attempting to cross the Vaal. A second advance was made upon Taungs Sunday morning by 1,500 British troops and six guns. Communication with Taungs is now occupied by 3,000 British.

USED GUNS AND CLUBS.

St. Louis Police Charge Several Mobs That Stormed Running Cars.

NO ONE WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Public Rather Worried of Patronizing the Affected Lines, Despite Protection of Police—Cars Viciously Stoned.

St. Louis, May 12.—The day opened quietly, but later reports began to come in of renewed rioting in various parts of the city in connection with the street railway strike. In one instance the police fired into a crowd and in others used their clubs on those who attempted to interfere with the running of cars. While rumors of casualties were rampant during the day, none of a serious nature had been corroborated. The Suburban system ran all its cars under an escort of police. So close was watch maintained by the police that no disturbances occurred on its lines. The Transit company started cars on a number of its branches, and notwithstanding the police protection afforded, trouble cropped out in various directions.

Two cars were taken out of the station at Geyer and Jefferson avenues and started for Carondelet. Three hundred striking employees of the road and their friends were around the car sheds at the time, and when the cars came out a rush was made for them in an attempt to pull the motormen off the cars. The crowd was forced back by the police and the cars proceeded on their way without further interference.

A number of men attempted to board one of the cars at Compton Heights division as it rounded the corner. The policemen who were on the car used their clubs on the heads of the first of the crowd who reached the car, and the rest of the crowd retreated. The affair occasioned considerable comment, and a dozen mounted policemen were promptly sent to the scene from other parts of the city.

Armor Plate.
Washington, May 12.—No disposition has been made as yet of the naval appropriation bill by the senate, but after lengthy discussion an agreement was reached to vote on the armor plate late in the day. During the discussion a notable speech was delivered by Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts upon the necessity of building up the United States navy without delay. Mr. Daniel of Virginia presented an extended argument in support of the immediate construction by the government of an armor factory, while Mr. Allison of Iowa opposed the project of a government factory on the score of economy.

JULY

On the Jaw Put Corbett Out of It.

Used His Left And Rushed Himself Into Victory

Did the California Champion But Corbett Made a Clever Stand.

It Took Twenty-Three Round to Decide the Battle Which Was Fast, Clever and Exciting.

Special by Associated Press.

Seaside Club, May 12.—Jim Jeffries is still the heavyweight champion pugilist of the world. He defeated Jim Corbett in the twenty-third round of their fight with a decisive knockout. The finishing blow came as a sudden and startling surprise. Corbett had been making a wonderful battle. His defense was absolutely perfect and while he was smiling and confident. He either sidestepped from Jeffries' terrible rushes or ducked into clinches. Jeffries was hammering away, however, and was strong and game. The end came with the suddenness of a shock. The men had had two fierce rallies, followed each time by long-range sparring, and were together again. They were both fighting fast and hard.

Suddenly there was a report of a sharp blow and Corbett dropped.

It needed no count to tell that Corbett's efforts for the championship again were vain. The excited spectators sprang to their feet and for a moment there were roars and calls. The confusion was but momentary, however, and in a silence that was most remarkable the fallen fighter was carried to his corner. Some one called for cheers for Jeffries, but the almost silent crowd refused to give them. Then a moment later, when a friend of Corbett put the question, a thousand re-echoed a kindly response.

It was in the corner of the defeated man, too, that the crowd gathered, and there were more solicitous offers of aid for him than there were congratulations for the man who had defeated him. It was but natural, however, for Corbett had made a showing that entitled him to that consideration. His skill had made it the best fight he had ever seen, and their hopes had been with him from the moment the battle had shaped itself. Jeffries' face shows the effects of Corbett's jabs.

The winning punch was a short left to the jaw. Corbett dropped like a weight and was clear out. Jeffries showed ability to take punishment at any distance and punched hard. He was clearly outboxed, and at times made to look like a novice. The crowd which numbered fully 10,000 was with Corbett and his defeat fell upon a silent crowd. There were cheers given him when he revived and left the ring, and was generally shown more consideration than the victor.

Corbett is still a factor in the pugilistic game. He has regained much of his old time form.

The battle was clean and it is doubtful if there was a single infraction of the rules. The crowd was most orderly.

When they exchanged handshakes, Jeffries looked brown, rugged and strong. He smiled an occasional recognition to a friend in the crowd, but for the most part seemed serious. Corbett was clean, white and trim. He said he weighed more than on the day memorable in pugilism when he defeated Sullivan, but he did not look it. He looked in splendid condition, and his appearances told the truth, as exemplified by his marvelous battle against the odds of strength.

The Combatants.

The crowd showed its first enthusiasm over the announcement that Charley White would referee the fight. White holds the confidence of the sporting public, which rates him a favorite. There was a brief wrangle over the bandages on Corbett's hands, but he was finally allowed to wear them. The gloves were quickly slipped on and in a moment the gong clanged out loud and clear. As the men sprang forward the spectators were stilled to silence that was broken only by the telegraph instruments.

In the preliminary sparring, Corbett showed a wonderful advantage. He was panther-like on his feet and darted in and out with confusing speed. He whipped his left into Jeffries' face, and was either inside or away from the punch. Jeffries kept going in, however, but he seemed awkward. The pace made by the champion was fast and there was a yell of satisfaction from the admiring spectators when the gong ended the round.

Jeffries kept on making the pace when they were at it again, but Corbett slipped away from him. Jeffries would try his left in a rush, but Corbett was almost invariably away from it. It made a superb exhibition, and there were murmurs of approval that at times broadened into cheers. Corbett was outboxing his man and outpointing him with his left to the face. They were both fighting carefully, for while Corbett had the speed and cleverness he found Jeffries hard to get to. Jeffries fought in his crouching attitude, which proved so hard to solve to Fitzsimmons.

Science Against Strength.

Jeffries quickly began to use his strength, and in the clinches threw a little of his strength onto his opponent. Corbett showed surprising ability against him, and it was long before the strength of the champion began to tell. When Corbett had saved the 10-round money, there was a strong change in the sentiment toward him. And the men who had their money on Jeffries to win began to be somewhat dubious. Jeffries was grim and resolute, and kept at his man relentlessly. He knew at that stage of the game he had been outdistanced, and that his only chance was to rush in and mix it. Corbett left his wit and strength and strength and the play of the giant armite it made a splendid picture. Here was youth and strength, with a fair measure of skill, pitted against the master of the sport. The pace was one that would have told against any man not perfectly prepared. By the seventeenth round, Jeffries, maddened by the danger of marring his reputation, began a series of desperate brushes, in which he mixed it fiercely with Corbett. He seemed angered by the jabbing at his face and wanted to end it all with a swing from left or right. Corbett had begun to show the pace, but while his punches lacked force, he was still speedy on his feet. He contented himself with avoiding punishment. It became simply a question of how long that sort of desperate game could be kept up.

At the twentieth round it looked as if Corbett would stay the limit, and popular judgment awarded him victory. He had up to that time avoided any serious punishment. His face was unmarked, and the scratches on his shoulders and arms were the result of clinches than blows. His defense was still perfect and he was smiling and confident. He either sidestepped from Jeffries' terrible rushes or ducked into clinches. Jeffries was hammering away, however, and was strong and game. The end came with the suddenness of a shock. The men had had two fierce rallies, followed each time by long-range sparring, and were together again. They were both fighting fast and hard.

Jeffries' Victory.

Coney Island, N. Y., May 12.—"What is the use of talking now?" said Corbett, when seen in his dressing room after the battle. "I lost, and although I don't know how it happened, I guess it was all right. I fought my best and felt good until the punch came that ended my aspirations for the time being, but I think that I proved myself not altogether a dead one. If my friends were satisfied with my showing I have no kick to make, but would like to have another chance if Mr. Jeffries will accord me the privilege, which I think nearly every one who saw the fight will say is due me. I am still in the game and will stick there until I reach the pinnacle of my ambition or am bled freely."

Former Member of the Filipino Cabinet Will Exert His Influence.

DRAFTS A PLATFORM FOR NATIVES.

Elements in the Philippines Which He Says Obstruct the Attainment of Order—Civil Commission.

Manilla, May 12.—Senor Buencamino, at one time a member of the so-called Filipino republican cabinet, and who was recently liberated by General Otis, announces that he has become reconciled to American sovereignty and that he will devote his influence to bring about peace. He has sent a proposed peace platform for the insurgent leaders in Manilla and the insurgent generals, including General Aguilardo, in the field. This platform declares that it is impossible for the Filipinos to exist as a nation without the protection of the United States, and that consequently they must recognize American sovereignty and strive to

To the London War Office to Reassure Them That He is Prosecuting the War to a Finish.—The Burghers Retreating Toward Their Capital.

Gordon's south of Kroonstad. The enemy's brigade is in touch with them; Tucker's division is a short distance south east and Hamilton's force is still further east. of the most remarkable nature, from the best known people, attests the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

No sufferer can read it without feeling hopeful, no skeptic can read it without being convinced. Every disease of the blood and nerves is separated from a common rash to scrofula; from neuralgia to nervous prostration; from bone-ache to rheumatism; from ordinary weakness to partial paralysis. Lives are saved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"I suffered for five or six years with the trouble that comes to women at the change of life. I was much weakened, was unable much of the time to do my own work, and suffered beyond my power to describe. I was downhearted and melancholy. I took many different medicines, but nothing seemed to do me any good."

"I had heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and some of my friends recommended them highly. I made up my mind to try them. I bought the first box in March, 1897, and was benefited from the start."

"A box and a half cured me completely, and I am now strong and strong. I have not been bothered with menopause since taking the pills."

"I have recommended the pills to many women who are suffering as I suffered. They are the only thing that helped me in the trial that comes to so many women at my age."

PLEASED AT LAST.

Queen Wilhelmina Satisfied With Her Latest Medalion.

Amsterdam is preparing to celebrate its six hundredth birthday, which occurs this year. The wealthy burghers, who are proud of their town, mean to make the festival a magnificent affair. The queen will come down from The Hague in great state and of course will be the honored guest. A flock of kings, princes, dukes and other nobles will be in attendance from all parts of Europe.

The young queen, who takes a justifiable pride in her own personal appearance, is at last satisfied with a medalion of herself. The lucky artist is Hans Jansen. So pleased is the young ruler with the work that she has ordered the likeness put on all the coins and postage stamps. This necessitates the destruction of all the dies at the mint and all the plates at the postage stamp factory.

This is the third time that the queen has done this. She has never been satisfied heretofore with the likenesses of herself that adorn the currency.

"They make me fat 50 years old," she said to the enveloping postage stamp factory, wistfully. "Perhaps I may look like that when I am a grandmother, but the thing is a lie on me now."

Art in Holland hardly tends to the idealization of a subject. Impressionist methods are not in vogue. If a person is plump and uninteresting looking, the pleasure of the artist is to make him look more so.

The queen, however, is such a patriot that she would not listen to the suggestion that she should import a painter from Paris who would make a blond or brunette of her or anything else he was paid to do.

DIMINISHES Bachelor Women.

Mr. Stephen Gwynn, who writes on the bachelor woman, is as pessimistic about this new variety of the genus homo as ever that disciple of Lou Broso, Signor Ferrero. Particularly is he antagonistic to the clubwoman (who he maintains, is usually a widow), for it is she, he declares, who is gradually undermining the sacred institution of the home. And when the clubwoman combines her club with a fat or chamber "near Piccadilly" why then we see the beginning of the end of matrimony. Indeed, on this point Mr. Gwynn is as candid as he is modest on the subject of the attractions of his masculine contemporaries. He seems to look upon them not as potential Lovelaces or Bayards, but merely as universal providers for the fair. "By the new arrangement," he says, "a woman can go through life with no more responsibilities than if she lived permanently in a hotel. She has no ties of any sort, she does not neglect her duties—she simply has none, and the result is a great increase in her personal comforts, so much so that one imagines there will be a great falling off in the number of marriages made for convenience, since the women who take to this bachelor way of living are precisely those who used to marry for that motive." The quotation is its own best commentary.

Women Will Try to Stop Gossiping.

An antogossip society has been organized in Springfield, Mo. At an afternoon card club the other day the idea was suggested by Mrs. Mosher. The members pledge themselves to speak no evil word of any other woman. The membership is unlimited, and every woman in Springfield, regardless of condition or denomination, is most cordially invited to join and all members are urged and expected to do all in their power to bring others into this new society. There are to be no dues, no officers, no regular meetings; nothing but the simple pledge. The idea was received by all those present in the most responsive manner, all signifying their most hearty approval and promising their warmest co-operation. It will be known as the Woman's Self-Elevating society, and its existence is to continue forever.—St. Louis Republic.

The Federation of Clubs.

There has been a change of date of the meeting of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs in Paris to June 28 and 29. The general federation will give a banquet on June 30 in one of the largest hotels in Paris, and invitations will be extended to as many representative women of the world as can be accommodated. The meetings of the federation of June 28 and 29 will be held in the Salle des Conférences, Palais de la Femme, Paris exhibition grounds.

The general federation members and those who join them in the tour expect to sail from New York on the Friesland on June 13. The party will reach Antwerp about June 23 and will be in Paris June 25. It will leave Paris on July 2 for a tour of the continent and Great Britain and will sail for home by the Statendam Aug. 2.

How London Lives.

The art of living cheaply has been accomplished in London. For breakfast no one thinks of taking a heavy meal. People there know the value of money and expend it accordingly. All over London are eating houses where a meal can be had at from 6 to 15 cents. Invariably the people drink cocoa or chocolate, a cup of this is almost a meal in itself. The price varies from 2 cents to 5 cents a cup.

One system of restaurants use so much cocoa that they make their own.

In America we have not yet discovered the great food value of this article. When buying ask for Cleveland Cocoa, Rose's Unsweetened or Rose Sweet Chocolate. Look for the name of the manufacturer on the package.

At Avon, N. TO DESTROY PRAIRIE DOGS.

New Method Discovered In Texas to Eradicate the Pest.

The prairie dog pest, which has caused the farmers and stockmen of the Panhandle section of Texas severe losses during the past several years, is fast being eradicated. The Hon. J. C. Peery of Barbour county, member of the state legislature, who introduced a bill at the last session of that body, providing for the extirpation of all the prairie dogs in the state, has been spending a few days in Austin. He says that while he regrets that his bill did not become a law and thereby make the killing of the prairie dogs compulsory, yet a new method of killing the little animals has been discovered and is being generally adopted by the farmers and stockmen throughout the pest stricken section.

"It was discovered several months ago," Mr. Peery said to a reporter of the Chicago Record, "that the animals could be exterminated by suffocation, the method being to saturate a piece of cotton with bisulphide of carbon. This is dropped on the prairie dogs' mound and covered over. It rapidly generates a gas which has a tendency to penetrate downward into every corner of the underground chambers occupied by the parent dogs and their young, giving them a quick and easy death."

Millions of prairie dogs have been killed in this manner during the past few months. A number of men have taken hold of the work as a regular business, and they take contracts to rid farms and ranches of the pest at the extremely low rate of 4 cents per acre, or $2 per section. Inasmuch as the animals destroyed fully 50 per cent of the grass and wheat in the Panhandle section, the landowners are well axed to pay the low price demanded for getting rid of the little pests. The only difficulty about making the riddance permanent is that the railroad companies and state own vast tracts of land in the Panhandle, and there is no effort being made to exterminate the prairie dogs on these lands. They propagate very rapidly and are continually migrating from one section into another. It will therefore take constant work to keep the dogs off those sections of lands which adjoin the railroad and state lands. The state and railroads should be forced to exterminate the pests on their own lands, and if that was done, the complete eradication of the pest in Texas would soon be accomplished."

Previous to the discovery that the prairie dogs could be easily killed by the fumes of bisulphide of carbon the principal method of exterminating them was by trapping and poison. This was such a slow process, however, that comparatively little headway was made.

For Russian Historians.

Russia's Academy of Science has a prize of 1,500,000 rubles to bestow. In 1833 General Arakcejew bequeathed to it 50,000 rubles, which was to accumulate until 1925, when three-fourths of the sum should be given to the best history in Russian of Alexander II's reign, says the Indianapolis News. The other quarter was to be spent in printing the work, in having it translated into French and German and for a prize to the second best work. The accumulations will amount to nearly 2,000,000 rubles.

PAIR

Of Burglars Caught at Work.

One is in Jail

But the Other Remains at Large.

Daring Capture Was Made by Officer Neubright Last Night.

Followed Two Desperate Characters and Tackled Them Single Handed When They Attempted Burglary.

Patrolman Phillip Newbright made one of the most daring captures last night that has been credited to any member of Lima's efficient police department for some time. Single handed and in a secluded locality where there could be no hope of receiving assistance he tackled two desperate burglars whom he caught in the act of breaking into a saloon and restaurant, and although the men made a desperate resistance he succeeded in landing one of them behind the bars of the city prison.

The prisoner gives his name as Albert Cutlip and belongs in this city. Being the step-son of a man named Pierson, he is also known to many as Albert Pierson, and that he is a desperate character is evidenced by his record in which the police state there are included two or three terms of imprisonment in the penitentiary. Cutlip had

BEEN SEEN ABOUT TOWN occasionally for several days and more frequently at night and knowing his reputation, when officer Newbright saw him last night he kept "tab" on him whenever he appeared on his beat. About three o'clock this morning he saw Cutlip and two other men come out of Pete Hill's saloon on south Main street and start east on Spring street, one of the strangers preceding some distance in advance of Cutlip and the other unknown man. Keeping out of sight the officer followed and saw the trio turn toward Market street on Union. When the alley at Core's lively barn was reached the first man disappeared, going toward the public square, and Cutlip and the third man continued to Market street and then turned westward. Still

NEWBRIGHT FOLLOWED and when he saw the pair start down the alley at the rear of the Union block he was convinced that some crooked work was about to be attempted. He did not have time to summon assistance and could not sound his whistle without alarming the paviors so he boldly followed the men alone. When he reached a point at the rear of Loewenstein & Wertheimer's clothing store he heard the noise of the tearing of a wire screen and moving quietly in the direction of the slight disturbance he saw Cutlip in the act of crawling through an open transom leading into the rear of Chris Geiger's saloon and restaurant. The other man had his arms AROUND CUTLIP'S LEGS and was lifting him up so that he could reach the opening from which he had torn a screen. Just as Cutlip was about to pull himself through the transom, Newbright sprang upon them and grabbing the stranger by the coat collar with one hand and wrapping the other arm around Cutlip's legs he pulled him down to the ground.

Both men fought desperately, and for a short time Newbright tried to manage both of them, but fearing they would get the best of him and both escape, he allowed the stranger to break away and paid his attention entirely to Cutlip, whom he soon landed at the police station. He was searched before being locked up but nothing of importance was found.

ANOTHER CAPTURE. Assisted by other officers, patrolman Newbright made a careful search for the man who had been with Cutlip, but if he was seen he could not be recognized. The man who had turned into the alley at Core's barn just before the attempt at burglary was made, was found asleep in the barn and was locked up on suspicion, but is not believed to have been implicated in the intended burglary.

FRANK WILLOWER

PASSES TO REST AFTER MANY YEARS OF ILLNESS.

The Hand of Death Terminated His Sufferings at 12:45 O'clock This Afternoon.

Frank Willower, one of Lima's most worthy sons, died at the home of his father, William Willower, on east High street, at 12:15 o'clock to-day, death resulting from lung trouble, from which he had been a sufferer for many years.

The deceased was 42 years of age and was the third son of William Willower. He was for a number of years employed in the local post office and upon two or three occasions was compelled to leave his position on account of the condition of his health. He spent a few years in Kansas, and although the change of climate improved his condition somewhat, it did not prevent the continuation of the ravages of consumption. After returning here he again entered the post office under the present administration but a few months ago was again compelled to resign, and since that time has continued to grow weaker. His wife, whom he married in Kansas, preceded him to the future world, and he is survived only by his one step daughter.

PEACE

Warrant Asked for by Mrs. Bice.

Who Fears One of Her Near Neighbors.

A Dramatic Scene Follows the Appearance of John Sawmiller Before Justice Duffield. Held for Failure to Provide.

Mrs. Sarah Bice complained to Justice Duffield that she had reason to fear one Lulu Gant, who had made threats to assault her, and the defendant was arrested. Mrs. Gant pleaded not guilty and was released on bail in the sum of $100. The hearing on the peace warrant proceedings will be held at one o'clock Monday afternoon. They live at 1,114 and 1,116 north Main street.

John Sawmiller, who has been in jail for several days awaiting a hearing on the charge of not providing for his family, was brought before Justice Duffield for trial this afternoon. John is a big stout laborer, but he broke down and shed copious tears when explaining to his attorney the alleged injustice that had been done him. Later he was taken into an adjoining room where his mother, who died the complainant, and his wife awaited him, and from the mingled grief that came from behind the thin partition it was evident that there was a dramatic scene in which all three were repented. The case had not been adjusted at the hour of going to press. All concerned live in the country about three miles west of the city.

TWO

Flyers to be Added for Summer.

Time Lessened

Between New York and Chicago on P. F.

The Two Trains Will Be Elegant Equipped and Built for Speed.

The Train Dispatchers on the C. H. & D. are in their Handsome New Quarters. Other Railroad News.

On May 27th, the date for the summer time table to go into effect on the Pennsylvania, two fine trains will be added to the equipment. The trains will be known as 20 and 21 and they will be finely equipped throughout and highly scheduled. No. 20 will leave Chicago at 12 m., central time and arrive in New York at 2:30 the following day, eastern time, making the running time, including stops, twenty-six and a half hours. No. 21 will leave New York at 1:30 p. m., eastern time and arrive in Chicago at 2:55 p. m., central time covering the distance between terminals in twenty-six hours. With the addition of these trains, the Pennsylvania will have the best passenger service between Chicago and New York. With the coming of the new trains will come the promotion of some trainmen and possibly it will be necessary to make a considerable change all along the line.

E. J. Fultz, who was recently transferred from here to his former position as agent for the Ohio Southern at Waverly, is moving his goods today and will follow as soon as the work of checking him out is completed. No one, so far as is known here has been named as his successor.

A telegram says: It is reported on Wall street that the Pennsylvania railroad has borrowed $15,000,000 at 4 per cent. with the privilege of renewal. The presumption is that the loan was made to pay for the stock of the Long Island railroad.

IN NEW QUARTERS. The C. H. & D. train dispatchers are now in their new quarters and the change is certainly a great improvement over the old cramped condition. The walls were scraped free of the old paper and have been painted a light color. Everything about the offices is new, fresh and clean and the various apartments so connected that it is much more convenient for all concerned.

NOTES.

Two more names have been checked off the jail register. Sheriff Bogart took Charles Williams, the convicted chicken thief to the penitentiary to serve one year, and William Hawkins was released by order of the commissioners. The latter was held for failure to support his family.

Four of them have since died and the remaining child is of age.

The causes which have led to the application for divorce are given as wilful absence and gross neglect of duty. It is explained that the defendant deserted his wife on the 31st of December, 1893, and during the past seven years she has been compelled to work out as a servant and to keep boarders.
